

California State Athletic Directors' Association

What is the CSADA?

Our professional organization for Athletic Directors, Assistant Athletic Directors and those who have direct responsibilities working with students and coaches in Athletics and Sport. The CSADA provides professional development opportunities for its membership through National, State, and local meetings, conferences, and workshops.

Our California organization works with the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association on issues, concerns, professional development, and the advancement of the profession for all members. The NIAAA offers professional development courses designed and taught by Athletic Directors from across the country, provides a National Annual Conference, service awards, and other opportunities for recognition.
